In this interview Qiu Zhonghui, General Secretary of the Amity Foundation speaks about good governance, community funds and explains Amity’s approach to Community Building. The Amity Foundation is working in this field for almost 30 years and our work is backed on empirical observations and evaluations during these years. Disparities between urban and rural areas, different terrain and the vast amount of different cultures and people in China make this undertaking so challenging.

The interview was initially conducted by the Chinese Philanthropist. The CP is a Chinese magazine that informs about developments of the third sector in China.

Do you remember the little girl standing on the stage in Hong Kong during the Living Water Campaign in March last year? Her name is Lin Yiling, the student ambassador for Living Water over the past years. When Yi Ling was 14 years old she suffered from brain cancer. Her positive attitude towards life and her unrelenting spirit really is worthy of our attention. This winter, Yi Ling was elected to be the youngest ‘Regeneration Warrior volunteer’ and nominated at the ATV Awards Loving Hearts Campaign 2014.

Attached is the exclusive ‘Sing Pao Media’ interview with Yiling at the Amity Office: Living life like a butterfly.
