In a response to the global call for the realization of the Sustainable Development Goals 2030, the Amity Foundation organized an international conference on the theme "Religions, values, ethics and development" in Nanjing. The conference, co-hosted with the Institute of World Religions and the Chinese Academy of Social Sciences (CASS), brought together more than 200 participants from various sectors including government, academia, local religious leaders and faith-based NGOs.

The Amity Foundation could enhance its capacities and is joining the international community in ecumenical sharing. Amity is helping patients who require medical aid in third world countries. Recently, the Amity Foundation visited their local partner, the Arusha Lutheran Medical Center (ALMC) and their rehabilitation center 'Plaster House' in Tanzania.

“I had the privilege of experiencing life in the northwest of China. The students were so eager to learn, so desperately happy to have a native English teacher,” says Denise, one of Amity’s long-term English teachers in the following interview during Amity’s Winter Conference in Hunan. Read the interview with her and two more overseas volunteers (YAP volunteers ♂ and YAP volunteers ♀) and about their service in China.
